创始人导语：

Wenyue Zhu : Why lumio ?

As the founder and president of iHelp, a student organization at my school that sends volunteers to remote parts of China to teach English, I have taught English in secluded, rural areas of China and have hosted charity bazaars to raise money for underfunded schools and poor families within these areas. My eagerness to curtail educational disparities between rural and urban China has also inspired me to launch Lumio, an online teaching platform that provides free English courses taught by volunteer teachers like myself. Thus, even students in the most secluded areas of China can access quality English instruction through their computer or mobile device.
